PROBABLY CURED HIM

In the early days of the war a New York newspaper sent over a "live wire" to its London office. He proved to be a veritable new broom, even going so far as to attend the office on a Sunday morning. Of course, no one else was there. But the Sunday papers were lying on the desk. Picking up the Observer, his eagle eye came across a dispatch announcing that the British Fleet had arrived in the English Channel with decks cleared for action.

At that time—1914—the Germans were dangerously near Boulogne. The correspondent, now thoroughly excited, worked the telephone and dragged the resident correspondent from a warm bed.
"My God!" he panted. "The British fleet is out and there's no one here!"
"Where did you get that from?" queried the old-timer.
"The Observer carries it."
"Oh, yes, I saw it," yawned the O. T. "But read the headline again."
He did. It ran "From the Observer in 1914."

Tolson Trucking Business Is Now Big Institution

Probably one of the largest business concerns of its kind in Southern California today is the Tolson Transportation System, Incorporated, headed by H. M. Tolson of Torrance, who was the former owner and operator of the Torrance Transfer Company and Seal Beach Auto Dispatch, now being operated by the corporation of which Mr. Tolson is president. This corporation resulted from the growth of a business that was started in 1912 with a one-ton Ford truck, while the present equipment and real estate holdings of the corporation run into figures well over $100,000. The business now requires offices in Los Angeles, as well as branch offices in Torrance and Huntington Beach. A new depot was found necessary for the growing business, and a site was found at the corner of Fifth and Alameda streets, Los Angeles, where there is now one of the best depots of its kind in the city, housing eight of the largest franchise carrier lines authorized by the state railroad commission and operating into a territory that interests every shipper of any kind of goods in or out of the city.

This depot is known as the Independent Motor depot, and the territory served from it extends practically 100 miles north, 100 miles east, 50 miles south and east, and is still growing. Credit for the erection of this modern depot is due to Mr. Tolson, better known as "Mister Tolson," who is one of the well known truck men of the state, being particularly well known for his success in the business of which he is the head.

He talks no hard times, and new business is constantly coming to his corporation through successful business methods. L. C. Schaefer of Torrance is vice-president of the system, in charge of mechanical maintenance, while F. M. Montague, formerly of the Union Automobile Insurance Company's claims division of Los Angeles, is secretary-treasurer, in charge of official records and finance. W. H. Tolson, a brother, is also a director, and is in charge of dispatching and freight movements. Phillip S. Carrell, assistant secretary of the Union Automobile Insurance Company, is a director. The corporation has just completed arrangements for a new branch office at Huntington Beach, and George W. Wardwell, a pioneer and progressive business man long in the community, is to be in charge of the local office at 520 Main street.

BRILLIANT

After several vain attempts to follow the light conversation of the young person he had taken in at dinner the professor struck out for his natural level, and explained to her carefully and elaborately that a recent discovery showed that life can be produced in sterilized bouillon by the action of radium.

A PRECAUTION

Old John, custodian of the bath house at an English resort, was in the habit of entering Miss Augusta's compartment before she had completely re clothed herself. One morning she said to him: "John, you ought to knock before you come in. Some day you might come in while I was undressed." To which honest old John replied: "Lor' bless you, miss! no danger of that. I allus peeks through the knothole afore I comes in."

YOUTHFUL BEAUTY OF MOTHER MUCH REMARKED ABROAD

You would think they were sisters, wouldn't you? But they are mother and child. Mrs. De Lucey Oelrichs (above) and daughter, Marjorie, prominent in New York society, have just returned from abroad, where the youthful beauty of Mrs. Oelrichs attracted much attention.

MADE COMMANDER OF BRITISH FLEET

Admiral Sir Charles Edward Madden, second in command of the British grand fleet since 1919, has been elevated to the highest post in the British navy, that of commander-in-chief.

BETTER, TOO

The eminent trust magnate was going over the books with his new system expert. "Whew!" whistled the s.e. "Your legal department costs you a heap. Still, I suppose you have to maintain it?" "Whew, I don't know. Sometimes I think it would be cheaper to obey the law."
